EXTENDED AND EXPANDED CALL FOR PAPERS

CONFERENCE ON MULTILINGUAL PHONOLOGY

Sponsored by the CUNY Graduate Center Linguistics Program and the CUNY Phonology Forum
15-16 January 2015 at the CUNY Graduate Center, 365 Fifth Ave., New York City

CALL FOR PAPERS

Papers are invited in any area of phonology, with special focus on multilingualism and sound patterns in the context of multiple language competence and use. The view of phonology is broad, and encompasses diverse areas of cognitive science, including formal linguistics, language acquisition, neurolinguistics, computational linguistics, phonetics, and psychology. Diversity in methods is also encouraged: formal, functional, experimental, and computational approaches to phonology are welcome.

By “multilingual phonology” we mean sound patterns that relate to more than one language. This theme is meant to encompass: phonological acquisition in multiple languages or in a non-primary language; perception of sound patterns in multilinguals; loanword phonology; contact phonology; contact-induced sound change; phonological aspects of code-switching; phonological impairments in multilinguals; phonological interference in multilinguals; and the phonological effects of world languages on other languages.

INVITED SPEAKER:

Ellen Broselow, Stony Brook University

SUBMISSION GUIDELINES:

We invite submissions for both oral presentations and posters. Oral presentations will be 20 minutes with 10 minutes for discussion. All submissions will be considered for both oral and poster presentation, unless ‘poster only’ is indicated.

Anonymous abstracts should be one A4/letter page (12pt font) with a second page for references, data and/or illustrations. Abstracts should be emailed as an attachment (PDF format) to CUNY.PhonoForum@gmail.com no later than 23:59 EDT on 15 November 2014 (extended deadline).

In the body of the email, include title of the paper, name of the author(s) and affiliation. If you wish your abstract to be considered for poster presentation only, please also indicate this in your email.

IMPORTANT DATES:

15 November 2014 extended deadline for abstracts submission
1 December 2014 notification of acceptance
15-16 January 2015 Conference on Multilingual Phonology
